

Copywriting Firm Announces Holiday Press Release Bargain

Free Distribution to Top 100 Newspapers in the USA

Lincoln Street Productions, a leading copywriting firm specializing in the promotion of small to medium sized businesses, announced today a Holiday press release package designed specifically to increase online sales during the Holiday season.

The $99 package includes a 1-2 page professionally written press release plus distribution to 10 online news outlets as well as free distribution to the top 100 newspapers across the United States. "This is an excellent bargain for those interested in an added boost to their Holiday sales," said Traci Latoz, owner and senior writer at Lincoln Street Productions.

Online press releases are widely known as a cost-effective marketing strategy among savvy internet marketers for increasing online sales as well as boosting search engine visibility. "Press releases distributed through online media outlets are typically picked up by major search engines within 24-36 hours," said Latoz.

Free distribution to the top 100 newspapers in the United States is an unprecedented offer with Lincoln Street Productions, as this service alone normally sells for an additional $99. "We're only offering this for the Holidays, and then this offer will expire," said Latoz.
