

TrackingTheWorld Distributorships Now Available Through Productive Electronics

Opportunity to Become a Dealer of TrackingTheWorld GPS Tracking Systems

Burlingame, CA—TrackingTheWorld, Inc., a global leader in the development of GPS tracking systems and GPS tracking software, recently announced the availability of distributorship openings exclusively through Productive Electronics, LLC, the firm's master distributor.

Based in Norcross, Georgia, Productive Electronics is a foremost wholesale dealer of surveillance and security equipment including TrackingTheWorld GPS tracking systems. "We are pleased to have a widely-respected firm such as Productive Electronics as the master distributor of our GPS tracking systems," said Gilbert Walz, CEO of TrackingTheWorld.

Through Productive Electronics, aspiring business owners can quickly and easily organize and operate their own GPS tracking system business. Beginners need only furnish their own website, and Productive Electronics provides new distributors with everything they need including a generous sales plan and technological training services. "Productive Electronics makes it as easy as possible to become a dealer of today's most state-of-the-art GPS tracking systems," Walz said.

Productive Electronics also eliminates the need for new dealers of GPS tracking systems to invest in and store inventory through their convenient drop shipping system, which handles order processing, packaging and direct to the customer's doorstep delivery. "This is an ideal situation for those interested in breaking into the business of GPS tracking systems from the comfort of their own homes," said Walz.

As GPS tracking systems continuously become more affordable to individuals and small businesses, they are increasingly being used to solve common dilemmas of small business operations such as employee monitoring and asset management. "The demand for GPS tracking systems continues to climb. What was once only affordable for large corporations is now within reach for many, and Productive Electronics has created a great opportunity for individuals to cash in on this growing market," said Walz.

With the entire line of TrackingTheWorld GPS tracking systems available to new distributors via Productive Electronics, distributors will have access to a wide variety of GPS tracking equipment to meet the needs of large corporations, small businesses, police and security operations, and individuals. Productive Electronics carries real time GPS tracking systems, passive data logging GPS tracking systems, and TrackingTheWorld's revolutionary hibernating battery pack for GPS tracking systems.

For more information about starting your own business as a dealer of GPS tracking systems through Productive Electronics, LLC, master distributor of TrackingTheWorld's™ cutting edge GPS tracking systems, please visit <http://productiveelectronicsllc.com/dealers.php> or call (1-866) 446-8681 toll free.

TrackingTheWorld is based in Burlingame, California. The firm offers a full line of GPS tracking systems, and GPS tracking software for a wide range of needs including covert GPS tracking, personal safety, fleet management and small business needs. For more information about TrackingTheWorld, Inc. please visit www.trackingtheworld.com or call 650-692-8100.

<http://www.trackingtheworld.com>