“The InfoRegistry service combines several of the best aspects of competing detective software products, and takes the reporting process a step further by giving the user faster results,” said a spokesperson for the Directory. “We recommend the InfoRegistry service as one to be considered first among other online background check products for those comparing these types of services.”

InfoRegistry is a nationwide search system which enables its users to check thousands of sources, public databases, and proprietary search databases as part of an online background check. The users can then download and view the reports within minutes. Covering the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom, InfoRegistry claims the most databases and data centers available for these three countries of any other online background check service.
