

Petticoat Gallery: Petticoat Photos and Underskirt Pics like Petticoat Full Slip

Throughout history, the female body has been celebrated as a work of art. This is what SlipsandCurves.us celebrates; the intriguing and subtle, the soft and the sensual...

Native American Artist Dempsey Bob said it best when he proclaimed \"Art is the visible manifestation of a culture\". Today, his statement still rings true all over the world. However, the controversy over whether nude or lingerie art is acceptable to society is more heated than ever before. The web site SlipsandCurves.us attempts to transition from that which is inappropriate or socially unacceptable to that which is beautiful displays of beautiful, softly sensual and artful lingerie photographic images that are in fact an artistic visible manifestation as defined by Dempsey Bob.

The site is premised on the idea that human sexuality has throughout history been made visible in many art forms ranging from the earliest days of stone carvings, hieroglyphics, drawings, sculptures, paintings, photographs and cinematography. In fact, many of the most famous Greek statues feature humans unclothed. With photos of Moulin Rouge adding fuel to the controversial fire, those striving to protect morals of society are often still outraged by art form depicting human sexuality today.

SlipsandCurves.us is a site featuring tasteful art in photograph form. Models adorn present day and vintage lingerie which is less seductive and more beautiful than anything else. From the traditional glamour pinup vintage lingerie to the petticoat soft underskirt, the photos are modern interpretations of classic clothing displays. Vintage lingerie featured also includes vintage bras, half slips and full slips.

SlipsandCurves.us is Nostalgia through a contemporary lens.

Petticoat Photos

Just as the fashion world is aware of the beauty, glamour and mystique of vintage clothing, the creator of SlipsandCurves.us is also aware of the beauty, glamour and mystique of vintage lingerie. It's very clear the focus of this new artsy website is the nature of the art itself. The photographs are displayed in a beautifully artistic manner, showcasing the design and detail of the vintage (and present day) lingerie on each model. The models are not portrayed solely as classic beauties, but instead are presented and appreciated for how their beauty enhances each photo. The photographer captures images of these beautiful women who in their intimate and private moments in time add their artistic contribution to the photographic art experience. Thus, the process instantly creates true and noble art.

Overall, this new site is creating a new path for artists and those wanting to venture back in time to a place where human sexuality was not a feared area of art, but rather an embraced area of artistic beauty. We look forward to your comments, ideas and your visits...
