

SMX West Conference Taps KeyRelevance Search Marketing Professionals

Santa Clara Search Conference SMX West Offers Attendees Access to Search Industry Experts From Across the Country

The Search Marketing Expo (SMX) West Conference promises attendees educational opportunities to learn from search marketing experts from across the country. Search engine marketing company KeyRelevance is honored to have two members of their online marketing team presenting in four sessions at the SMX West Conference in Santa Clara California February 10-12, 2009.

KeyRelevance President Christine Churchill will take the podium on the first day of the conference in a solo presentation entitled SMX Boot Camp: Keyword Research Tools and Techniques. "Keyword research is the critical first step in any online marketing endeavor. Most search experts agree that keyword research can make or break a company's success in online marketing," states Christine.

During the keyword session, Christine will be providing insider tips on how to conduct keyword research, a review of keyword tools, as well as the best ways to evaluate keywords. She will also be demonstrating advanced techniques for extracting vital information out of keyword tools.

"Today's economy demands that online marketers know exactly which keyword phrases produce the best results," Christine explained. "Now more than ever, smart marketers need to arm themselves with sound keyword research to make better marketing decisions."

The Boot Camp sessions offered at SMX West are designed as teaching sessions for attendees who desire to get a better foundation for search marketing. During the conference, there will be five Boot Camp sessions covering different components of online marketing including Keyword Research, Copywriting, Paid Search, Link building and Search Engine Friendly Design. Attendees who complete all five Boot Camp Sessions will receive a Certificate of Completion signed by Search Industry Guru Danny Sullivan.

Christine will also be presenting on the Advanced Keyword Research Tactics panel. In this session, Christine will be exploring ways for companies to intelligently pursue the long tail strategy of keywords and additional keyword tools.

Key Relevance's™ Director of Strategic Search, Chris "Silver" Smith, will be a featured speaker at the conference on two sessions. Chris will be demonstrating local optimization techniques in the "Up Close with Google Maps & Local" session on the first day. Chris will also be demonstrating image optimization techniques in the "Tapping into Image Search" session on day two.

If you haven't registered for SMX West, you can sign up at www.searchmarketingexpo.com/west. If you attend, come with questions in mind that you would like to have answered, and make sure to introduce yourself to others. Look over the Agenda and plan ahead on which of the sessions you would like to attend – most sessions have a question and answer session, and there will be ample opportunities to talk with experts in the Conference halls and many networking activities planned with the conference.
