With the rise of CPW Restaurant Services. by Commercial Pressure Washing, your Restaurant will no longer be a concern of did my last hood cleaning really get clean...

United States of America, Nov 11, 2009 -- Commercial Pressure Washing in Ashland,KY 41102 is expanding with its planned phase of expansion. Commercial Pressure Washing is unleashing, CPW Restaurants Services.

CPW Restaurants Services is the specialized cleaning service for removing grease from kitchen exhaust systems. Kitchen Exhaust Cleaning, or hood cleaning is commercial pressure washing's primary focus coming into the new year. They have already picked up some solid companies to work with in restaurants in the local Kentucky, West Virginia, and Ohio area and working with franchise stores such as McDonald's and Wendy's in the local markets.

Commercial Pressure Washing will be riding CPW Restaurants Services to the top of the market place in the Tri-State area and beyond with the superior service and fully documented cleanings for their client's kitchen exhaust system.

CPW inc is certified by the Certified National Hood Cleaning Association as well as a member in good standing. Grease Guard kitchen exhaust cleaning is licensed, certified, and insured. They deliver before and after pictures for all jobs, use bio degradable chemicals, and use techniques that most others do not with a cutting edge foaming technology during the cleaning process. They will also protect your kitchen from over spray and grease splatter leaving the kitchen cleaner then when they found it.

This is possible by the total preparation during the cleaning and overly controlled capture of the grease runoff limiting the chances of mess to a minimum for quick and easy cleanup.
